Thousand Sons

Codex: Thousand Sons

A fan codex written by Doomrider aka Mezmerro

This codex is by no means official or canon. I started writing it mainly for a Russian fellow TS-fan of mine, and since then it has evolved a lot. The main idea was to create an elite army heavily revolving around magic and synergy, while most of the non-sorcerer models being largely ineffective against anything but Space Marines in the open. Thousand Sons may not have much unit diversity, but they compensate for it very well with six new disciplines of (mostly) unique psychic powers and dozens of ways to customize their sorcery. Sure they may seem a bit complicated, but if you cannot manage few dozens of markers and counters on a sheet of paper (or even in your mind, if you really blessed by the Architect) then Tzeentch, the lord of scheming and deceit, is obviously is not your god and you should go pick up a chainaxe or sonic gun and leave this place of arcane knowledge. Now for those who are still here...

Introduction

Deep within the Eye of Terror lies the barren planet, rife with magical storms. On its surface, the single city of crystal spires and pyramids holds the headquarters of one of the smallest yet no less dangerous than any other legion of Chaos space marines - the Thousand Sons.

In a galaxy full of war and hatred Thousands sons seek not revenge, wealth or territorial gains, but knowledge. That is the only true power. In their quest they show no mercy nor cruelty, merely the simple removal of any and all obstacles in their way with a cold calculated efficiency. Many small warcovens of immensely powerful sorcerers and their undying rubric golems roam the galaxy, searching for ancient artifacts and grimoires in order to study them and unlock their power. Often they find danger in their quest as the current owners of these artifacts seldom part with them willingly. But even small covens of the Thousand Sons, numbering mere dozens of marines and only few sorcerers are still a powerful force to be reckoned with. With subtle manipulations even a single Sorcerer can cause unimaginable damage, capable of springing wars that engulf entire sectors. Though on the occasion when things come to direct confrontation, Thousand Sons can crush armies dozens of times their size with their powerful sorcery and unbreakable golems.

To discover the source of their power, one must travel ten thousand years back. Thousand Sons were one of the twenty great Legiones Astartes, created by the Emperor of Mankind to conquer the galaxy in his Great Crusade. Unique amongst space marines, their gene-seed had a side effect of unlocking the recipient's psychic potential, leading to the high number of psykers in the legion - some even claim that every battle brother of the Thousand Sons had some minor psychic powers.

Years passed, and Thousand Sons conquered worlds in the name of the Emperor in the Great Crusade. Known as a legion of scholars and psykers, they not only set the Imperium rule over the world they conquered, but also made sure those worlds legacy was preserved, sending many artifacts and books to their homeworld Prospero for study.

From their very founding, Thousand Sons were plagued by what was known to them as the Flesh Change - a terrible affliction which would turn those cursed with it into twisted mindless abominations. Many battle brothers were lost to it before the Great Crusade found their lost primarch, Magnus the Red. Magnus cured his legion, but unbeknown to all he did it only through striking a deal with a powerful Warp entity.

The Thousand sons, along with the White Scars, created the institute of psyker space marines which they called librariums. After the idea had proved to be useful, most other legions set their own librariums. Not all had supported this idea, and none more than Leman Russ, primarch of Space Wolves, and Mortarion, primarch of Death Guard. For a long time did the grudges between those two primarchs and Magnus boil, until the Emperor decided to settle it one and for all. On the world Nikea he called together a council of primarchs and imperial authorities. Despite many arguments for keeping the Librarians, he banned the use of psychic powers by the space marines, and disbanded librariums.

Broken and confused by this decision, Thousand Sons returned to Prospero, where they continued to practice their arcane arts and study the many artifacts they collected during crusade. Unbeknownst to them, Magnus the Red discovered the treason of Horus, and used his sorcery to send a warning message to the Emperor. The spell he used succeeded in contacting the emperor, but in doing so he caused tremendous damage to the Imperial Palace causing daemonic invasion on Terra and ruined the Emperor's human webway project. Even more so, Magnus failed to persuade his father about Warmaster's betrayal.

When Space Wolves, sent to punish Thousand Sons arrived on Prospero, Magnus did nothing to alarm his legion or to stop Russ. He even actively sabotaged the defense of Tizka to ensure the burning of Prospero didn't end with a mutual destruction of both legions as the Warp entity, now known to him as Tzeentch, god of Change has planned. Despite the best efforts of his sons, lead by the first librarian Ahriman, Thousand Sons were decimated. As the last of his sons were ready for their final fight, Magnus changed his decision, stepped forth and challenged Russ into a duel. Despite his sorcery, the Crimson King lost, and at his final breath he pledged his allegiance to the god of Change to save the remnants of his legion. With a single word of Power, Magnus' soul and all remaining Thousand Sons were moved to their new daemonic homeworld within the Eye of Terror known only as the Planet of Sorcerers. They eventually joined the forces of Warmaster Horus to serve the schemes of their new patron, and hopefully avenge their fallen brothers.

As their primarch struck his new deal with Tzeentch, the Flesh Change returned, reaping heavy toil from already exhausted legion. As Magnus did nothing to stop this, Ahriman gathered the most powerful sorcerers of the Legion, and together they casted the Rubric of Ahriman: a powerful spell meant to cure the legion from mutations, and prevent new ones. This spell didn't work as intended though. Those of the Thousand Sons, who had a high psychic power did get cured from mutations, as intended, and even had their power increased tremendously. Those with little or no power however got turned into dust, and remnants of their souls, damaged by the spell, were sealed inside their sets of armour. Those unlucky ones become the Rubric Golems, silent, obedient servants, bend to the Sorcerers' will, while having no will or feelings of their own.

This arcane tome holds the secrets of the Thousand Sons, a brotherhood of dark Sorcerers and their undead golem servants. Within these pages you will find arcane mysteries that can not be comprehended by mortals: magical powers beyond measurement, backed by a legion of unstoppable cold-hearted warriors who exist only to serve their sorcerous masters.

Chosen of Tzeentch

Thousand Sons' Special Rules

Rubric Sorcerer

Models with the Rubric Sorcerer special rule have following special rules:

Fearless, Psyker or Psychic Pilot (Mastery Level 1, unless otherwise stated), Blessing of the Architect, High Sorcery, Power of Rubric, Innumerations, Soul Shield, Cults of the Thousand Sons, Sacrifice, Old Enemies.

Rubric Golem

Models with the Rubric Golem special rule have following special rules:

Fearless, Slow and Purposeful, Blessing of the Architect, Fleshless, On the Sorcerer's Command, Old Enemies.

Golem Driver

Models with the Golem Driver special rule have following special rules:

Minor Blessing of the Architect, Fleshless, On the Sorcerer's Command, Old Enemies.

Blessing of the Architect

Models with the Blessing of the Architect special rule have 4+ Invulnerable save.

Minor Blessing of the Architect

Models with the Minor Blessing of the Architect special rule have 5+ Invulnerable save.

Fleshless

Models with Fleshless special rule ignore all effects from Biomancy and Pavony powers (including blessings), except Smite and Lightning. They also ignore Rad Grenades, and Psychotroke Grenades effects. Vehicle models with this rule also ignore "Crew Shaken" result on D6 roll of 2+ and "Crew Stunned" result on 4+.

On the Sorcerer's Command

Non-vehicle models with this special rule without model with Rubric Sorcerer in their squad and vehicle models with this special rule without model with Rubric Sorcerer within 6" of them suffer from Stupor effect.

Stupor: Models under Stupor effect can only move towards the closest visible enemy unit, shoot the closest visible enemy unit and charge closest visible enemy unit (though they aren't forced to do so), and cannot hold or contest objectives.

Old Enemies

Models with this rule have Preferred Enemy (Space Wolves) special rule; all Space Wolves models, except Wolf Packs and Cyberwolves have Hatred against models with this special rule and get +1 to charge range when declaring the charge on the units with at least one model with this special rule.

High Sorcery

When models with High Sorcery special rule manifest psychic powers, they do not roll psychic test for each Warp Charge used - instead they pass a Leadership test. If it's successful, all Warp Charges used count as being successfully activated. The results of double "six" on this test cause Perils of the Warp.

If at the start of the Psychic phase combined Mastery Level of all models with this special rule in your army is higher than the combined Mastery level of all other psykers in your army, halve (round up) the number of the Warp Charges your army randomly generated this turn. Note, that it does not affect the number of the Warp Charges your opponent get.

Power of the Rubric

Models with Power of the Rubric special rule count as having +1 Mastery Level for the purpose of Deny the Witch and number of generated psychic powers.

Innumerations

Models with Innumerations special rule have -1 modifier for their Leadership test results. This bonus do apply to the tests, performed by their unit as whole.

Soul Shield

When a model with Soul Shield special rule suffers Perils of the Warp, before rolling for Perils result, roll D6 - on a result of 4+ Perils are negated.

Cults of the Thousand Sons

Models with this special rule may generate their psychic powers from Change, Corvidae, Pyrae, Pavoni, Athanaeans, Raptora or Daemonology disciplines. Model with Cults of the Thousand Sons special rule must be aligned to one of the Thousand Sons' cults: Corvidae, Pyrae, Pavoni, Athanaeans or Raptora. He must generate at least half of his psychic powers (rounded up) from his cult discipline, and automatically gain this discipline Primaris power as per Psychic Focus rules.

Sacrifice

Model with the Sacrifice special rule may declare any psychic power to be manifested per the Sacrifice rule as long as he has one or more Sacrifice tokens. When a model decides to use a psychic power with the sacrifice rule, prior to rolling a Psychic Test he must first expend a Sacrifice token. Then instead of a normal psychic test the model rolls a leadership test as per the High Sorcery rule on 3d6 which ignores any other rules that force additional dice or Leadership penalties. A result of "12+" on this test causes Perils of the Warp. If the Psychic Test is passed successfully, the sorcerer uses the improved version of psychic power, stated in power's entry. Additionally your opponent suffers a -2 penalty on Deny The Witch rolls against Sacrifice improved Psychic powers. Focused Witchfire powers target a model of your choice regardless of the number of the Warp Charges activated.

Soul Hunter

For every model removed as casualty due to a model with the Soul Hunter rule's actions roll D6 – on 5+ the Soul Hunter model get one Sacrifice token (to a maximum of three).

Daemon Engine

Vehicles with Daemon Engine special rule have Daemon and It Will Not Die special rules and ignore Crew Shaken and Crew Stunned results on D6 roll of 2+.

Rare

Units with Rare special rule are limited to 0-1 per FOC, and cannot be taken in an allied Thousand Sons detachment.

Indirect Effect

Witchfires with this special rule count as out-of-phase normal shooting attacks and Deny the Witch rolls against them are made as if they are Blessings the Psyker manifested on himself.

Cauterize

Wounds caused by weapon or psychic powers with Cauterize special rule cannot be saved per the Feel No Pain special Rule, or regenerated by any means (It will Not Die, Regeneration, Leech Life, Renewer, etc.) Special rules that affect Soul Blaze special rule affects Cauterize rule as well – for example, Avatar of Khaine is immune to all weapon with Cauterize rule.

Allies

Thousand Sons ally as Chaos Space Marines, with a following exception: Allied Astra Militarum detachment that contain no special characters count as Battle Brothers for Thousands Sons - this is intended to represent Spireguard - Sons' own armies of mortal servants.

Warlord traits

When generating his Warlord Traits Thousand Sons' Warlord may either roll on one of the Warlord Traits tables in Warhammer 40 000 rulebook or on the table below:

1. Lord of Deception

Nominate up to D3 Infantry units in your army before deployment. Those units gain Infiltrate special rule.

2. Relic Hunter

Each enemy model with unique named wargear, slain by any model from your primary detachment grants you one extra victory point.

3. Seeker

Declare one Objective marker on the opponent's side of table. All scoring units from your primary detachment can secure this objective.

4. Master of Escape

If your warlord loses his last wound roll D6: On a 2 or 3 the warlord is removed from play as normal, but does not award any victory points. On a 4+ the warlord is instead removed from the battlefield and placed in ongoing reserves with one wound.

5. Elusive Tactician

You may re-deploy your army as if all units on the field were using the scout special rule. Units moved this way may still assault during turn 1. This does not confer the outflank special rule to any units.

6. Disciple of Magnus

Your Warlord may re-roll single Psychic test every turn (even successful one).

Sorcerers

Sorcerers of the Thousand Sons are the driving power of the Legion. Few in number, they are powerful beyond comprehension of mortal men, as energies of the Rubric burn in their souls, granting more mastery over powers of Warp, than any other psyker can dream. From behind the ranks of their fearless golems, Sorcerers bring hell on the heads of the Legion foes.

Unlike most Chaos servants, Thousand Sons Sorcerers aren't usually warlike, and prefer to spend their days in studying and research, in the countless libraries and reliquaries of the Sorcerers Planet. If there is something legion need, most sorcerers prefer to achieve it through devious plots and schemes, rather than direct confrontation. Though, when battle is inevitable few opponents could withstand the power of the sons of Magnus.

Aspiring Sorcerers

Aspiring Sorcerers possess the lower ranks in the Legion, set to guiding duty over Rubric Marines. Without their commands Rubric Golems are little more than mindless automatons, with them, they are unstoppable force. Despite their role as a supervisors, Aspiring sorcerers are fearsome warriors on their own, sometimes more dangerous, than entire squad they lead.

Sorcerer Squad

Sometimes Aspiring Sorcerers are deployed in squads. Such formations are rarely last for long, and often are gathered together for a particular battle. In a battle such a powerful squads work as a centerpiece of tactic, providing fire support, guiding their allies or projecting powerful force fields wherever they needed.

Sorcerer

High ranking Sorcerers of the coven spend most their time studying, bringing their psychic powers to the new heights, and plotting their way to the top of the coven hierarchy. There is no Sorcerer who lacks ambition, and though many of them wouldn't stop at anything to advance in rank, the game they play has strict rules. These rules are enforced by the Crimson King himself, so rarely do their intrigues hurt the Legion or lead to the death of one of them. That being said, when time for war comes even the most ambitious Sorcerers leave their rivalries aside and work together.

Sorcerer Lord

Leaders of Thousand Sons war covens are some of the deadliest psykers alive, gifted with immeasurable power and knowledge of dark secrets few could comprehend without losing their minds. Only the most skilled, powerful and cunning of the Sorcerers could reach this rank and hold it for long, as not only magic mastery, but great skill in scheming is needed to rise through the legion's ranks.

SPECIAL RULES:

Rubricate Bodyguard: Rubric Golem, Bodyguard

Sorcerers: Rubric Sorcerer (Sorcerer Lord is ML2), Independent Character (except Aspiring Sorcerer).

Bodyguard: Aspiring Sorcerers can relocate wounds on Bodyguard Rubricators per Look out, Sir! rule on 2+, even if Bodyguard isn't the closest model in the squad.

Magister Templi: Model with Magister Templi special rule have all psychic powers from his own cult discipline and may generate up to half of his powers (round up) from other cult disciplines. Magister Templi can re-roll psychic tests (even successful ones) when manifesting psychic powers from his cult discipline.

Technomancer

Sorcerers of the Pyrae cult always were more competent in handling machines than their brothers, and acted like legion Techmarines in the days of old. Over time some of them developed the ability to communicate with machine spirits and bend them to their will.

These so-called Thecnomancers often accompany Legion tanks, as they can empower them and even bring the fallen back to the fight. Although Thousand Sons largely regard vehicles as only complementary forces, meant to provide transport and distract enemies from the true power of the Legion – it's Sorcerers – few would argue that under command of a skilled Technomancer even a humble Rhino could be a force to be reckoned with.

SPECIAL RULES: Rubric Sorcerer (Pyrae, ML2), Independent Character, Machine Herd.

Machine Herd: Friendly vehicles within 24" of a Technomancer ignore On the Sorcerer's Command special rule.

Technomancer psychic powers:

Machine Heal

Warp Charge 1

Technomancer channels his power to machine spirit healing his wounds and restoring broken parts.

Machine Heal is a blessing that targets single friendly vehicle within 18". Roll D6. On the result of "1" nothing happens, on result of 2-6 target vehicle may restore lost Hull Point or repair one Weapon Destroyed or Immobilized result.

Burning Wrath

Warp Charge 1

Technomancer empowers machine weapons with his inner fire, setting projectiles and rays they shoot in dark flame of Pyrae.

Burning Wrath is a blessing that targets single friendly vehicle within 12". Whilst the power is in effect, all vehicle's weapons get +1 Strength bonus and Caulterize special rule.

Corona

Warp Charge 1

Technomancer set vehicle's hull in a halo of dark blaze which burns everyone who get close.

Corona is a blessing that targets single friendly vehicle within 12". Whilst the power is in effect, vehicle would deal Strength 4 AP 5 hit to every model in base-to base contact at the assault phase fight sub-phase initiative step of 10, and deal D6 Strength 4 AP 5 hits when tank shocking or ramming.

Possess Vehicle

Warp Charge 2

Technomancer's spirit partially leaves his body and reaches the dead husk of a broken vehicle, turning it back to life, powered by the sorcerous flame.

Possess Vehicle is a blessing that targets single wrecked vehicle (friend or foe) within 24". Whilst the power is in effect, Technomancer cannot move, shoot or charge. Target vehicle get restored to full HP, repair all its Weapon Destroyed and Immobilized results and become under control of Technomancer for the duration of power. Target vehicle also benefits from Burning Wrath and Corona effects, ignore all Crew Shaken and Crew Stunned effects, and uses Technomancer's Weapon Skill, Ballistic Skill and Initiative stats (in case it have ones). For every unsaved glancing hit Possessed vehicle takes, Technomancer takes Strength 2 AP2 hit with Ignore Cover special rule. For every unsaved penetrating hit Possessed vehicle takes, Technomancer takes Strength 3 AP2 hit with Ignore Cover special rule. If the vehicle under effect of Posses Vehicle get destroyed, it treat Wrecked result as Explodes and Technomancer who posses it immediately suffer Perils of The Warp. If the Technomancer who posses vehicle get removed as casualty, it immediately suffer Explodes result. When Posses Vehicle effect cease, vehicle becomes wreck once again.

Insorcist

The reformed souls of Rubric Golems, protected by the dark pact of the Rubric, cannot be absorbed by the powers of Warp. After battle a Sorcerers can repair the armour of fallen Rubric Marines or replace it and cast his spirit to Materium, sealing it in the armour again.

While all Sorcerers can pull golems back from dead, only a few of the Corvidae, who know the flows of Immaterium better than any other cult, can reach those lost souls during battle. Those Sorcerers, known as Insorcists use their power to reanimate fallen golems or summon spirits of dead as their puppets.

Insorcist psychic powers:

Reanimate

Warp Charge 1

Insorcist uses his power to infuse lost souls back to the broken armour they were cast from, restoring their bodies even from debris and shards if needed.

Reanimate is a blessing that targets single friendly unit within 12". After successfully manifesting Reanimate you may immediately restore D3+1 previously removed as casualty models with Rubric Golem rule from this unit (Rubric Swordmaster counts as three models for this purpose).

Undying

Warp Charge 1

Insorcist strengthen the bonds that tie golems souls with their sets of armour, so they can ignore all but the most severe damage.

Undying is a blessing that targets single friendly unit within 12". Whilst the power is in effect, all models with Rubric Golem rule in the unit get Feel No Pain (4+) special rule.

Vengeful Spirits

Warp Charge 2

Insorcist can summon spirits of dead for a few moments, setting them to tear the souls of the living apart before vanishing back to the Warp.

Vengeful Spirits is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
24	1	2	Assault X*, Poisoned (5+), Ignore Cover

*Vengeful Spirits deals as many shots, as there are models with Rubric Golem or Golem Driver in your army removed as casualties.

Rubric Swordmaster

Some Sorcerers take the time to craft a truly fine bodyguard. Most of the time, they command a Rubric Swordmaster, a powerful warrior bound eternally to themselves, rather than the normal passing bindings used for your average Rubricae.

	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld	Sv

SPECIAL RULES: Rubric Golem, Independent Character, Blade of my Master, Defend the Master.

Blade of my Master: Swordmaster's armour is inscribed with words of power, that bolster his combat mastery even further as his master channels energies of Warp through him.

When under effect of Enliven minor psychic power Rubric Swordmaster receive +1 Attack, AP of his close combat weapon is improved by one, and his invulnerable save is improved by one (to 3+)

Defend the Master: Rubric Swordmaster automatically pass Initiative test when performing Glorious Intervention to replace his Warlord in challenge.

Daemon Prince

Being a Daemon Prince is being a creature of Power, Magic made flesh. Those who step on the way of demonic ascension seek true immortality and new vision, granted by the daemonic body. Many are the secrets that only daemon can learn, and the eternal thirst for knowledge that drives every Sorcerer can push one on the way to Daemonhood.

Though being a Daemon Prince also means being a pawn of the Great Powers, totally dependent on their will. Such is the pride of Sorcerers that few can sacrifice their freedom for the benefits of Daemonhood, even while deep inside their hearts they all know that their freedom is illusive in the Grand Scheme of Tzeentch.

While Rubric made Thousand Sons all but immune to mutations, the risk of turning into spawn is ever present for those who seek for daemonhood, and only the most determined can reach their prized goal.

Daemon Princes who originates from the Thousand Sons legion can be counted on the fingers of one hand, yet they are some of the most dangerous of their kind. They retain the great knowledge of their Legion, combined with a nearly indestructible body and increased magical powers. Clad in ornate daemonic armour and exquisite robes, carved and embroidered respectively, with the words of power, these creatures lay death and destruction with sword and spell alike to those who stand in their way.

UNIT TYPE: Monstrous Creature (Character)

WARGEAR: Power armor, force sword

SPECIAL RULES: Rubric Sorcerer (ML2), Daemon, Deep Strike, Soul Hunter, Daemon of Tzeentch

Daemon of Tzeentch: A Daemon Prince is considered to be a Daemon of Tzeentch. Add +3 to it's Ld when making a Psychic test (To a maximum of 10). In addition, the Daemon Prince may re-roll failed saving throws of 1, and haves the Hatred (Nurgle) Special Rule.

UPGRADES:

Wings: Daemon Princes with Wings changes their type to Flying Monstrous Creature (Character).

Screamer Cloud: Daemon Prince emanates with magical power, baiting Screamer pack from the Warp. While Screamers cannot break the Weil end enter real space, Daemon Prince thins the line between the Warp and real space just by his presence, and can force few of his screamer pack to existence to use them as living shield. Daemon Prince with Screamer Cloud rule count as accompanied with three models of Spectral Screamers with Toughness 5, one wound and no amour save for the purpose of enemy shooting (you may represent them as models, but they would work only as markers or counters), and could relocate suffered wounds on these models per Look Out, Sir! Special rule. At the start of his movement phase Daemon Prince may expend one Warp Charge to restore all previously lost Spectral Screamers.

Kai Gun: When Warp storm Gae-san enveloped the Kai system in M34 it absorbed into Eye of Terror powerful industrial culture. Machine smiths of Kai bartered their skills for a measure of protection, learning how to craft weapons in the Warp that they could not conceived before. After Daemons descendent to fight for the possession of their new domains, all that left from the forges of Kai was the guns they made to appease their new masters. The Kai Gun looks like a huge bolter of archaic design so big that mortal man can barely hold it with both hands. The gun is a psychic catalyst that turn hatred and malice of its wielder into tangible bolts of energy.

Kai gun is a ranged weapon with the following profile:

	Range	S	AP	Type
Kai Gun	24	6	3	Assault 3

Rubric Marines

Rubric Marines are the bulk of the Thousand Sons Legion. Once proud and disciplined warriors, they have been transformed into almost mindless automatons by the baleful energies of the Rubric. Their bodies turned to dust, sealed inside power armour and their thinned souls barely glare in the warp, where Sorcerers shine like beacons. Yet they are still deadly soldiers, obedient, fearless and skillful, albeit a bit slow to react compared to other space marines. The fearsome inferno bolts their Sorcerers arm them with rip apart the very souls of their targets, bypassing all but the heaviest armour and leaving grievous psychic stigmata on the bodies of those lucky ones who survive their soul being mutilated. Many Astartes, both loyal and traitor learned the hard way to respect the firepower and tenacity of Tzeentch's chosen legion soldiers.

Aspiring Sorcerer: Power armour, bolt pistol, force weapon, inferno bolts.

SPECIAL RULES: Rubric Sorcerer (Aspiring Sorcerer only), Rubric Golem (Rubric Marines only).

Rubric Terminators

Even before the Rubric, the Sekhmet terminators of the Scarab Occult were so cold-blooded and calm, that other legions called them automatons. Reaching high levels of mental discipline, they transcend over their personalities to a level of mind purity rarely seen outside their Legion. The Rubric barely changed them, merely consolidating their detachment and obedience.

Aspiring Sorcerer: Terminator armour, combi-bolter, force weapon, inferno bolts.

SPECIAL RULES: Rubric Sorcerer (Aspiring Sorcerer only), Rubric Golem (Rubric Terminators only), Warp Path.

Warp Path: Thousand Sons use sorcery and Warp portals instead of the primitive teleporters to deploy their Terminators, and their Sorcerers mastery over Warp help guiding such a teleportation, preventing terrible accidents, so common amongst other Legions.

If a unit of Rubric Terminators accompanied by at least one model with Rubric Sorcerer rule scatters over impassible terrain, other unit or out of the board during Deep Strike, reduce scatter distance until they can be placed normally.

Sky Rubricators

After the Rubric, most of the Legion's Assault Marines were reduced to Rubric Marines. As such their sluggish nature meant that they were not suitable for Jump Pack use, where quick reaction are essential. Yet many Aspiring Sorcerers resisted these changes. They spent months and years in training, reaching deeper into the remnants of their subordinate souls, binding with them on the level few of the Sorcerers can boast. So called "Sky Rubricators" squads do not use their high mobility to rush into close combat, but rather to reach favorable positions or outflank their enemies, dancing on the jet thrusts, pouring fire on foes, and then jumping away, avoiding return fire.

WARGEAR:

Sky Rubricator: Power armour, jump pack, bolter, chainsword, inferno bolts.

Aspiring Sorcerer: Power armour, jump pack, bolt pistol, force weapon, inferno bolts.

SPECIAL RULES: Rubric Sorcerer (Aspiring Sorcerer only), Rubric Golem (Rubric Marines only), Low Thrust (Aspiring Sorcerer only), No Need to Hurry (Sky Rubricators only).

Low Thrust: Sky Rubricator Aspiring Sorcerer have minor psychic power Low Thrust. It changes Jump type to Jet Pack for all his unit until the start of his next Psychic phase.

No Need to Hurry: While under effect of Stupor, Sky Rubricators cannot use their jump packs and therefore temporarily lose Jump type.

Disk Riders

Some of the Aspiring Sorcerers reach such a heights in daemon summoning art that they can bend up to dozen of Screamer to their will and transform them into Disks. Squads of Disc riding Rubric Marines are extremely rare and are valued greatly by the Coven leaders for their unmatched mobility and durability.

Summoned mounts: The moment their Aspiring Sorcerer is removed as causality, all Discriders lose their Disks of Tzeentch till the end of the game - replace them with regular Rubric Marine models if possible.

Erasers

While Thousand Sons rely on sorcery and vehicles for heavy fire support, sometimes it's simply not enough. In such occasions groups of Rubric Marines are reinforced by Disk-mounted weapon platforms, forming Eraser squads.

Guide Aim: Erasers Aspiring Sorcerer have minor psychic power Guide Aim. It grant Skyfire special rule for all Disk Platforms in his squad unit until the start of his next turn.

Young Sons

Thousands of Legion agents constantly search through Imperium, Eye of Terror and free human worlds for psychically gifted and healthy boys. Some of the candidates are captured and brainwashed, some convert to Chaos by their will, but only a few out of thousands pass the rigorous selection, while others die in process or join the Planet of the Sorcerer's population of thrall wizards. Those lucky ones who pass are given the precious gift of Thousand Sons gene seed – one of the rarest progenoids in the Universe.

As their bodies transform into transhuman form, Young Sons are subjected to countless tests and learn the forbidden lore of warp sorcery. Inside the spires of the Planet of the Sorcerers they hone their skills of warp mastery in magical sparrings and nonlethal duels, as well as practicing the art of psychic choir to combine their power in battle.

No one but Sorcerer Lords and Magnus himself know what happen with the Young Sons when they end their training and finish their transformation into true Astartes. Some say they get tested by some modified version of Rubric and those who survive it become true Sorcerers, and those who do not – their golem servants. Those of the Thousand Sons who are rumored to originate from the Young Sons don't tell, and nor do the Coven leaders.

UNIT TYPE: Infantry, Character (Practicus only).

WARGEAR: Carapace armour, bolter, chain-sword, inferno bolts.

SPECIAL RULES: Brotherhood of Sorcerers, Psychic Choir.

Psychic Choir: Young Sons squad Mastery Level depends on the squad size – on 1-7 they count as Mastery Level 1, on 8-15 – Mastery Level 2, and on 16+ – Mastery Level 3. For this purpose Practicus counts as two models. Regardless of the squad size, Young Sons generate three psychic powers from any Legion Cult Disciplines.

Hidden Ones

Mysterious warriors clad in armour with Thousand Sons heraldry sometimes accompany the Covens of Legion in battle. They rarely speak other than telepathically, and always appear from the most unexpected directions, hiding their positions with illusions and clouds of psychic mist, harassing vulnerable rear of enemy forces, and then vanishing to strike from other direction. They seem to be unaffected by Rubric, and yet show no signs of Flesh Change.

Those warriors are the Hidden Ones – dark order of infiltrators, scouts and spies, founded by none but Ammon himself – the first apprentice of Magnus. No one knows their origins or agenda, especially after their master was slain, but Hidden Ones seem to be eager to help any Coven they meet regardless of its goals. It is rumored, that dozens of Hidden Ones agents are infiltrated into loyalists' chapters and Chaos warbands, leaking valuable information to Thousand Sons Sorcerer Lords.

SPECIAL RULES: Brotherhood of Sorcerers, Stealth, Infiltrate, Blessing of the Architect, High Sorcery, Innumerations, Soul Shield, Shadow Choir, Grand Illusion, Vanish.

Shadow Choir: Hidden Ones squad Mastery Level depends on the squad size – on 1-6 they count as Mastery Level 1, on 7-13 – Mastery Level 2, and on 14+ – Mastery Level 3. For this purpose Vigilator counts as two models. Regardless of the squad size, Hidden Ones generate two psychic powers from Athanaeans Legion Cult Disciplines and know Invisibility psychic power from Telepathy psychic discipline.

Grand Illusion: Hidden Ones use their telepathic powers to disguise themselves as an enemy soldiers with illusions and subtle mind control.

Until Hidden Ones use any psychic powers on other unit then themselves, perform shooting attack or attempt to charge, enemy units must pass Leadership test on 3D6 in order to shoot or charge Hidden Ones, and cannot shoot or charge Hidden Ones or other unit in this phase if they fail the test. In addition, when arriving from reserves per Outflank rule and rolling 5-6 on Outflank, Hidden ones can enter the field from the opponent's side of table if they choose so.

Vanish: When revealed, Hidden Ones rarely last for long, preferring to hide in illusive clouds of mist and flee to strike from other direction when they least expected. If at the start of their Movement phase Hidden Ones aren't locked in close combat, you may remove them from the field, and place them into incoming reserves.

Dreadnoughts

Due to effects of Rubric, Thousand Sons Dreadnoughts are almost unaffected by mutative powers of Warp, avoiding transformation into demented and unpredictable Hellbrutes. Rubric Dreadnoughts' pilots bodies turned to dust like most of their battle brothers, and the remnants of their souls pilots are the only things that drives those massive deadly walkers. Silent and cold, Rubric Dreadnoughts know neither mercy nor anger, reaping through their foes with the methodical patience of cold-blooded killer.

Sorcerers rarely take such heavy wounds that even the healing mastery of Pavoni Cult cannot save them. Such cripples are placed into Dreadnought sarcophaguses, becoming one of the deadliest weapons in the Legion arsenal. Though placing into metal shell usually lowers the psychic potential of the Sorcerer, he still retains most of his power, bolstered by a bitter anger from being demoted from one of the Legion's commanders to a mere tool in the hands of some Sorcerer Lord.

Even more rare than Sorcerer Dreadnoughts, Contemptor Pattern Dreadnoughts are the relics of the past, long forgotten by Imperium and even most of the Traitor Legions. Their heavy armored hulls tower over regular Dreadnoughts and some Daemon Engines, painted in proud colors of Thousand Sons and protected by telekine shields. Many mysterious and powerful magitech systems may be installed into Contemptor's ancient hull, turning it into even more dangerous war machine.

Sorcerer Dreadnought: Rubric Sorcerer, Book of Metal, Iron Herd.

Rubric Contemptor: Golem Driver.

Book Of Metal: Dreadnought armor provide a lot of surface for magical formulas and glyphs to be written at. Vehicle with the Book of Metal special rule may take up to 3 Words of Power from the Arsenal.

Iron Herd: Being sealed within Dreadnought sarcophagus Sorcerer can better understand those of his former battle brothers, whose souls get trapped in metal shells.

Friendly walkers within 24" of vehicle with Iron Herd special rule ignore On the Sorcerer's Command special rule.

UPGRADES:

Gyroscopic Stabilizers: Sophisticated stabilizer systems, provided by the Legion's Dark Mechanicum Allies provide for much smoother moving and speed, for such a big vehicle.

Confers Fleet and +1 Weapon Skill, and if a Contemptor does not shoot during his Shooting phase he get +1 Attack.

Crystal Lantern Augur: This magitec artifact combine powerful augur array with psychocrystal cell, powered by bound daemon, allowing for unprecedented accuracy against even the fastest targets.

Confers +1 Ballistic Skill, and if a Contemptor does not move during his previous Movement phase he may choose to get a Skyfire and/or Interceptor special rules.

Sorcerer: Empty Contemptor dreadnoughts are extremely rare, and are reserved only for the highest ranking Sorcerer Lords should they suffer such heavy injuries even Pavony could not heal.

SPECIAL RULES: Golem Driver, Repair.

Repair: If a Rhino is immobilized for any reason, then in subsequent turns the crew can attempt to repair the vehicle instead of shooting the vehicle's weaponry. Roll a D6 - on a 6 the vehicle is no longer immobilized. This doesn't allow the Rhino to gain a HP back.

Daemon Engines

Terrorfiend

Unlike the Forgefiend on which chassis it's based, Terrorfiend never meant to be a heavy gun platform. It's weaponry may seem relatively weak for such a big war machine, but the real purpose of Terrorfiend is not to sow death on its own, but to support the Legion Sorcerers, channeling them the very souls of Terrorfiends victims to be used as spell amplifiers. Those of the enemies who know about this ability often prioritize their fire on Terrorfiends, as they know quite well, that already dreadful Sorcerers would unleash apocalyptic powers on their heads when this metal beast start feeding on its prey.

Terrorfiend	3	3	6	12	12	10	3	2	3

UNIT TYPE: Vehicle, Walker

WARGEAR: Two psychic probes.

SPECIAL RULES: Daemon Engine, Fleet, Well of Power.

Well of Power: If Terrorfiend kills at least one enemy model during its shooting phase you may give one Stolen Soul token to the single model with Rubric Sorcerer rule within 12" of it. Stolen Soul tokens count as Sacrifice tokens, except they last only until the end of Sorcerer's next Psychic phase, and when they are used to manifest power per Sacrifice rule, psychic test get passed on 2D6 rather than 3D6.

Thousand Sons' quest for knowledge put them on the close terms with Dark Mechanicus, and often they take payment for hired golem squads in daemon engines. Thought Sorcerers don't really trust Daemon Engines as unpredictable and capricious, they develop their own rites of submission, granting more reliable and tractable behavior of bond daemons, albeit sometimes for the price of sheer power.

Deceiver

Deceiver is a Thousand Sons modification of Defiler, focused mostly on ranged combat. Altered rites of submission and modified chassis of Deceiver allow increased accuracy, albeit for the price of movement speed, and forward claws crushing power. Though as Thousand Sons usually use Deceivers as fire support platforms, they find this trade quite affordable.

Warp Shots: Daemons, bond to Deceiver often develop strange ability to warp reality around their guns, launching surprisingly accurate shots far beyond their weapons maximum range.

If Deceiver does not move at his previous Movement phase all his weapon get +12" to maximum range and template weapons get Torrent special rule.

Dread Claw

Dread Claws are massive drop-pods, aging back to the days of Horus Heresy. Unlike their Imperium analogues, Dread Claws are capable of self-supported flight, and often are used for boarding action and as ground-to-ground transport. Albeit Dread Claw machine spirits are known for their vicious temper that often lead to terrible accidents with supporting personnel, Thousand Sons are good enough to tame the rage of machine if it threatens the life of a valuable specialists, like their Dark Mechanicum allies, and the lives of the common slaves from refuel teams are of no value to them.

SPECIAL RULES: Deep Strike, Assault Vehicle, Dread Claw Assault.

Dread Claw Assault: Half of Dread Claws in your army (round up) automatically arrive from reserves on turn one. The rest of them follow the regular reserve rules.

Storm Eagle

Storm Eagles were the standard dropships of the Legiones Astartes back in the days of Horus Heresy, and since most of the Thousand Sons Storm Eagles were housed on their fleet during the Burning on Prospero, Legion's park of flyers were kept in almost full numbers. Though the excellent mobility and holding capacity of the Storm Eagles are rarely of use in a Legion which has access to warp portals, it is still valued greatly as attack craft, capable of fulfilling any role, be it air superiority or carpet bombing.

UPGRADES:

Ancient Cogitator: Some of the best preserved Storm Eagles retain their sophisticated machine spirits, albeit without access to the Mars armories, many of the most delicate details could only be replaced with bulky magitec systems of the Dark Mechanicum.

Storm Eagle with Ancient Cogitator have Power of Machine Spirit special rule, but its transport capacity get reduced to 15 models.

Magnus the Red

Daemonic Primarch of the Thousand Sons

The Black Tower of Magnus rises above all the spires of Sorcerers Planet. Here the daemonic primarch of the Thousand Sons Legion plots his astute schemes and oversees the work of his children. The gaze of his single eye pierce through time and space, reaching the far corners of the Galaxy with ease, and his power over warp allows him to kill a single man from across thousands of light years or summon devastating warp storm on entire subsector without even leaving his throne room. Yet sometimes even the Crimson King needs to show himself on the battlefield. Such is his true power, that the Materium realm could not sustain him in his full glory without great sacrifice to summon him and a warp storm or rift nearby to thin the veil between reality and the Warp, so Magnus usually arrive in the Materium as a psychic projection – a mere shadow of himself, though still terrifyingly powerful by any standard.

Warp Beacon: Each Psyker, model from Brotherhood of Psykers or Brotherhood of Sorcerers unit or vehicle with Psychic Pilot rule hit immediately suffers a Perils of The Warp attack.

Lord of the Thousand Sons: All allied Thousand Sons units within 24" of Magnus that can draw their line of sight to him ignore Sorcerer Command special rule and gain +1 bonus on their Soul Shield saves (to 3+). Magnus the Red is automatically your Warlord. Magnus may not be taken in an Allied Detachment.

Primarch: Bestows the Fearless, Adamantium Will, Fleet, Eternal Warrior and It Will Not Die special rules.

Power Overload: Realm of Materium already barely can sustain Magnus' psychic projection. Channeling even more energy inside it and keeping it stable is a hard task even for a demigod.

All blessing powers, that Magnus manifests on himself require one extra Warp charge to manifest.

Metamorph: Magnus' body is not made of flesh, but of energies of Warp, completely submissive to his mighty will, so laws of physics are barely a guidelines for him.

Magnus is not affected by the Poison, Fleshbane, Concussive, or Strikedown universal special rules. Additionally, he is immune to all effects that would lower any of his characteristics except current wounds and treats all terrain as an open ground (with the exception of Impassible Terrain) for the purposes of moving or charging. If for some reason he is forced to be removed as a causality automatically, he instead loses D3 wounds with no saves of any kind allowed.

Lord of Sorcery: Magnus the Red is one of the most powerful psychic entities in the Galaxy, even when he enters the Materium in his limited incarnation.

Magnus the Red knows all psychic powers from all Thousand Sons disciplines, and pick up to four powers from Daemonology discipline. He automatically passes all psychic tests, even those manifested per Sacrifice rule. Enemy units suffer -1 penalty to their Deny the Witch rolls against Magnus's psychic powers. He can manifest any psychic power multiple times per turn (as long as he has enough Warp Charge); he can also use Warp Charges as a sacrifice tokens.

Spectral Wings: Massive wings of dark energy emerge from the Crimson King's back.

At the start of his movement phase Magnus may choose to change his unit type to Flying Monstrous Creature till the start of his next movement phase. If he does so, subtract two Warp Charges from your Warp Charge pool at the start of your Psychic phase

Ahzek Ahriman

The Exile

Ahzek Ahriman once was the first Librarian and Captain of the First Fellowship of the Thousand Sons, Magister Templi of Corvidae Cult and the right hand of Magnus. When Space Wolves attacked Prospero, it was Ahriman who lead the defense of Tizca even against his Primarch orders. It was he who united and organized the remnants of the Legion after the burning of Prospero. Yet despite all his accomplishments there is no person more hated amongst the Thousand Sons than Ahriman, as his Rubric doomed most of his former battle brothers to be mindless automatons – for which it would be never forgiven by the legion Sorcerers.

Exiled from his legion, Ahriman, and his warcoven, known as Prodigal Sons roam through the Galaxy in their quest for forbidden knowledge. Ahriman insistently seeks a way to enter the Black Library, guarded by the mysterious Harlequins and their Eldar brethren, waging his own war in the Webway.

Psychic powers:

Alter Fate

Warp Charge 1

The ways of fate are well known to one who founded Divination discipline as Mankind knows it now, and with a slightest manipulation he may start the chain of minor events that can turn crushing defeat into brilliant victory.

Alter Fate is a blessing that targets Ahriman himself. While the power is in effect, you may re-roll any one die or force your opponent to re-roll any one die during each game phase.

The Rubric

Warp Charge 3

At the first years of his exile Ahriman studied his grand spell – the Rubric, and learnt how to modify it to be the weapon against those blessed with a Psyker talent.

Rubric is a malediction that targets single enemy model with Psyker, Psychic Pilot or Brotherhood of Psykers/Sorcerers special rule in 12". Target model immediately suffers D3+1 Perils of the Warp.

Hathor Maat

The last captain

Back in the days predating the Burning of Prospero Hathor Maat was the Magister Templi of Pavoni cult, and one of the founders of Bimancy discipline as Imperium knows it now. Like all powerful Pavony disciples he gain a full control over his body physiology and shape, able to change his own appearance, strength and even size. Many accused him of being obsessed with his appearance, but few could doubt in his healing gift and mastery over lightning.

Fate has been kind to Hathor, as he survived both Burning of Prospero and Rubric almost untouched, and passed through thousand years of the Long War in relative peace of Sorcerers Planet. The only surviving and still loyal to Primarch Captain of the Legion he serve as Magnus right hand and oversee the forces of Sorcerers Planet. He rarely leaves his temple spire to face the countless dangers of Galaxy, but when he does, few foes could stand on his way and survive, as even without his arcane powers Hathor's masterfully crafted and biomantically enhanced body is a perfect weapon on its own.

Cult Disciplines

Minor Psychic Powers

All of the Thousand Sons Sorcerers know not only powerful spells, but also some minor manifestations of the Warp power. While some might consider such minor psychic powers a mere tricks not worth the time of the proud sons of Magnus, those "tricks" may spell difference between victory and defeat.

All models with a Rubric Sorcerer special rule know following minor psychic powers, and can manifest them during their Psychic phase by spending one Warp Charge (no psychic test needed). Any minor psychic power may be manifested at most once per turn.

Obey: Sorcerer reaches the consciousness' of unleaded golems and bend them to his will.

Declare one friendly unit within 18" of Sorcerer – this unit would not suffer from the Stupor effects until the start of his next turn.

Activate special wargear.

Enliven: Channeling his energy into Rubric Golems Sorcerer awakens their battle lust and speed.

All models with Rubric Golem rule in Sorcerer's unit replace Slow and Purposeful with Relentless until the start of his next turn.

Fall Back: By the Sorcerer's psychic command Rubric Golems break from battle and perform tactical withdraw.

Sorcerer and his squad immediately retreat from close combat. If they are caught by Sweeping Advance, they are not destroyed but remain in close combat instead.

Halo: Corona of psychic energy surrounds Sorcerers head, taking the shape of terrifying monstrosities.

Sorcerer would have Fear special rule until the start of his next turn.

Illuminate: Incorporeal ghostly flames appear around Sorcerers foes, illuminating them in the dark.

Declare one opponent unit within 18" of Sorcerer - this unit gain no benefit from Night Fighting special rule.

Cult Temples

Each sorcerer of the legion belongs to one of the five cult temples depending on his talent in the art of forging the Warp powers. Those temples root back to the five disciplines, founded by the Magnus himself on Prospero and infact are the origins of imperial psychic schools, despite none of the Astra Telepatica adepts knows almost all their knowledge comes from the remnants of the Tizka libraries. For the millennia past Thousand Sons developed more sophisticated and effective rituals and spells, based on their superior knowledge of the Warp and mental practices known as Innumerations so their temple disciplines differ greatly from the regular ones.

Corvidae are the legion diviners, adept in the art of predicting future and manipulating chances. Their skills are highly valued by the legion, as they usually succeeds at leading troops or even entire armies. For this reason Corvidae sorcerers often become the leaders of warcovens or their closest advisers. The least warlike of the Thousand Sons, Corvidae enjoy peaceful time in research chambers and libraries and commonly try to avoid direct confrontation with enemy if possible.

Pyrae is the cult temple of pyromancy. Sorcerers of Pyrae are capable of conjuring deadly dark flame it into different forms. Often described as the flaming sword of Magnus, Pyrae Sorcerers are the most violent of their legion, enjoying the sheer destruction and carnage they cause in battle.

Pavoni are the legion biomancers, who's power allow them to control the flesh of both their allies and enemies. In battle they can conjure deadly lightings from their nervous systems and tweak their biochemistry to perform truly horrible deeds like forcing enemies vomiting themselves to death or literally explode. Where Pyrae enjoy burning things to dust, Pavoni developed more dark delight to torture and pain their powers cast on their prey.

Athanacans excel at the art of telepathy, often serving the ears of the legion by reaching the minds of the enemies and stealing their secrets before the battle or even making battle needless. In battle they use the nightmares and fears of their enemies against them and take control over the minds of the lesser troops to turn them against each other.

Raptora are the legion telekinetics, known for conjuring powerful kinetic barriers and moving objects with their minds. Often called the Magnus' shield Raptora Sorcerers protect their allies with kine domes and force barriers and holding enemies down, and while not nearly as destructive as Pyrae or Pavoni they are quite capable of turning their powers into a deadly weapon if needed.

Change discipline does not descend from the old Legion temples and is dedicated to the Thousand Sons patron god aspect – using raw unformed power of the warp. Change powers are known to be quite unpredictable albeit potent, and though none of the Sorcerers would abandon their temple to fully devote himself into Change, many study this discipline as a secondary.

Cult of Change

PRIMARIS POWER

Chaos Storm

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer conjures the raw power of the Warp on his fingers and unleashes it on his foes in the form of pitch-black lightning.

Chaos Storm is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
24	D6	D6	Assault D6+1

*Roll for Strength, AP and number of attacks separately.

Sacrifice: Roll 3D6 for each Strength, AP and number of attacks and pick the best results.

1. Reality Warp

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer bends the fabric of reality, creating the space loop, that redirects enemy shots to themselves.

Reality Warp is a blessing that targets Sorcerer himself. Whilst the power is in effect, all ranged with to-hit result of "five" against the Sorcerer and his unit instead hit the unit which fired it, resolved as a shooting attacks from the Sorcerer.

Sacrifice: Reality Warp also affects all other friendly units within 6" of the Sorcerer.

2. Doombolt

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer hurls a bolt of rolling energy that blasts everything on its path into terrifying new shapes.

Doombolt is a beam with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
18	8	1	Assault 1, Detonate

Detonate: If Doombolt hits vehicle and causes Detonate result, roll 2d6 for explosion radius.

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes into:

Range	S	AP	Type
18	10	1	Assault 1, Detonate

3. Wormhole

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer creates stable and safe corridor through the Warp to help his allies move a great distance in an eye blink.

Wormhole psychic power creates two linked wormhole gates, represented by large blast templates - first one within 6" of the Sorcerer and the second within 18" of the first one. All distances are measured to the centers of templates. These gates last until the start of the Sorcerer's next Psychic phase. Any non-vehicle model or walker (friend or foe) which touches a wormhole gate at any point during its movement may teleport to any point inside other wormhole gate and resume movement. For instance, if an infantry model moves three inches in order to touch a wormhole gate it may then appear anywhere touching the other gate before moving the remaining three inches. Models moved this way must end their turn in unit coherency. This teleport may be performed during normal movement, or while running, turbo-boosting or thrust moving, and any model utilizing this movement counts as having moved. A unit cannot declare a charge in the same turn that it moves through a wormhole gate.

Sorcerer can attempt to manifest a Wormhole psychic power at the start of his Movement phase, in which case it costs 3 Warp Charges - remove those Warp Charges immediately after you generate your Warp Charge pool at the start of your next Psychic phase.

Sacrifice: Second wormhole gate may be placed within 30" of first one. Opponent models cannot use wormhole.

4. Dark Blade

Warp Charge 1

Ruinous energies crackle on the Sorcerers weapon, turning everything he hit into horribly twisted mess of metal and flesh.

Dark Blade is a blessing that targets Sorcerer himself. Whilst the power is in effect all Sorcerer's close-combat weapon with Force special rule may be used with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
-	+2	1	Melee, Force, Smash!, Armourbane

Sacrifice: Dark Blade profile changes to:

Range	S	AP	Type
-	x2	1	Melee, Force, Smash!, Armourbane

5. Nether Surge

Warp Charge 2

Sorcerer bends the reality itself, twisting the laws of physics to the point they cannot sustain life or even matter.

Nether Surge is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
12	X	-	Assault 1, Blast, Twin-Linked, Gravity Implosion*

Gravity Implosion: Every non-vehicle model touched by template must pass Initiative test or have their remaining wounds halved (rounding down, to a minimum of zero). An affected vehicle model instead rolls a d6: on a 3+ it suffers a Penetrating hit that inflicts the Immobilized result.

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes into:

Range	S	AP	Type
12	X	-	Assault 1, Large Blast, Twin-Linked, Gravity Implosion

Enemy models suffer -1 penalty to their initiative while making initiative tests per Gravity Implosion. Affected vehicles lose an additional hull point.

6. Warp Lance

Warp Charge 2

Beam of dark energy takes off the Sorcerer's hands, burning flesh and metal alike with ethereal flames of change.

Warp Lance is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
36	9	2	Assault 1, Lance

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes into:

Range	S	AP	Type
48	10	1	Assault 1, Lance, Transmute*

Transmute: Penetrating hits dealt by Warp Lance get +1 modifier for vehicle damage roll.

Corvidae Cult

PRIMARIS POWER

Guidance

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer can effortlessly predict the path of bullets and missiles. By focusing his warp-sight even more closely, he can guide his allies aim.

Guidance is a blessing that targets single friendly unit within 12". Whilst the power is in effect, target count all of its ranged weapon and witchfires as twin-linked.

Sacrifice: Target can also re-roll all failed to-wound rolls from their ranged weapon and witchfires.

1. Foreboding

Warp Charge 1

Thanks to his prophetic insights, Sorcerer and his allies are aware that their foes are about to charge, even before the foes themselves realized it.

Foreboding is a blessing that targets the Sorcerer. Whilst the power is in effect, the Sorcerer and his unit have Counter-Attack special rule and can overwatch at their full ballistic skill, rather than ballistic skill 1. Models with Rubric Marine rule under Foreboding effect can overwatch despite being Slow and Purposeful, but unless they are under effect of Enliven minor psychic power they suffer -1 penalty to their Ballistic Skill (to the minimum of 1) while overwatching.

Sacrifice: Sorcerer and his unit count as having defensive grenades and can fire overwatch on any enemy unit that declare charge on any friendly Thousand Sons unit within 12" of them. Models with Rubric Marine rule do not suffer -1 penalty to their Ballistic Skill for not being under effect of Enliven.

2. Flickering

Warp Charge 1

Gazing deep into the Warp and it's flows, Sorcerer can synchronize his allies' arcane protection in resonance with them, strengthening it immensely.

Flickering is a blessing that targets single friendly unit within 12". Whilst the power is in effect, target can re-roll all failed invulnerable saves. Note that you can choose to use invulnerable save against inflicted wounds even if your armor or cover save is better.

Sacrifice: Target's invulnerable save is also improved by one to the minimum of 3+.

3. Sentence

Warp Charge 1

With a click of his fingers, Sorcerer twists fate so that his followers' blows punch through the weakest points in their opponent's armour.

Sentence is a malediction that targets single enemy unit within 24". Whilst the power is in effect, target must re-roll all successful saves.

Sacrifice: Sentence targets two enemy units instead of one.

4. Perfect Timing

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer foresees the reaction of his enemies and guide his allies to shoot them exactly when they peer out from behind cover and expose themselves to a lethal head shot.

Perfect Timing is a blessing that targets the Sorcerer. Whilst the power is in effect, the Sorcerer's and his unit's ranged weapon have Ignore Cover rule.:

Sacrifice: Sorcerer's and his squad's ranged weapon also forces -1 penalty on their target's invulnerable save rolls.

5. Golden Way

Warp Charge 1

Amongst the thousands of possible ways of future skilled Sorcerer can pick the perfect one.

Golden Way is a blessing that targets the Sorcerer. Whilst the power is in effect, the Sorcerer can re-roll any D6+1 dices. Only the dice rolls, reliant to Sorcerer himself and his unit as whole could be re-rolled, but not ones that are reliant to other individual models in his unit.

Sacrifice: Roll 2D6+1 for the number of re-rolls.

6. Bend Fate

Warp Charge 3

Focusing tremendous power with his mind, Sorcerer can conquer the very fabric of uncertainty that defines fates of the material realm, ensuring brilliant success for his allies, and terrible failure for his foes.

Bend Fate is a blessing that targets the Sorcerer. Roll D3. Whilst the power is in effect, you may pick that number of dices after they are rolled (no matter by you or your opponent), and change their result to whatever you want.

Sacrifice: Roll D6+1 for the number of dices to pick.

Pyrae Cult

PRIMARIS POWER

Fireball

Warp Charge 1

Conjuring and launching the balls of overheated plasma is about the most basic spell available to Pyrae Sorcerers, but simplicity does not mean the lack of lethality.

Fireball is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
24	4	5	Assault 1, Blast, Ignores Cover, Cauterize

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes into:

Range	S	AP	Type
24	5	4	Assault 1, Large Blast, Ignores Cover, Cauterize

1. Hellfire

Warp Charge 1

A stream of the dark flame pours forth from the Sorcerer's arms, engulfing the target.

Hellfire is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
Template	4	3	Assault 1, Cauterize

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes into:

Range	S	AP	Type
Template	6	3	Assault 1, Torrent, Cauterize

2. Cracking Blazes

Warp Charge 1

By the Sorcerer's command a tiny spurts of a living flame covers enemy armour, piercing and expanding any gap or weak point they can find.

Cracking Blazes is a malediction that targets a single enemy unit within 24". Whilst the power is in effect, target's armour save is reduced by one (like 3+ becomes 4+), or if the target is a vehicle its armor value is decreased by one all round.

Sacrifice: Cracking Blazes effect last till the end of the game.

3. Spontaneous Combustion

Warp Charge 1

Focusing his anger on a foe, Sorcerer incinerate his flesh in a heartbeat. Yet when his rage boils over, the unfortunate body explodes with a blast of ash and roaring flame.

Spontaneous Combustion is a focused witchfire with a range of 18". The targeted model suffer single wound with Cauterize special rule and no armour or cover saves allowed. If the model is slain by this wound, target small blast template over the target before removing it. All other models under this template suffer a Strength 4 AP5 hit with Ignores Cover and Cauterize special rules.

Sacrifice: Target suffer D3 wounds instead of 1. You may allocate these wounds on one or separate models.

4. Fire Wall

Warp Charge 1

Roaring barrier of fire emerges from under the surface by the sorcerers command, cutting the path of his enemies and burning everyone stupid enough to try and cross it.

Fire Wall creates two fire wall markers within 18" of Sorcerer and no further than 12" from each other, placed the way the line between them does not cross enemy models. These markers last until the start of the Sorcerer's next Psychic phase. Each enemy model which crosses the line between the fire wall markers suffers Strength 5 AP4 hit with Ignores Cover and Cauterize special rules. Vehicles take hit on their rear armor. Line between firewall markers also count as 5+ cover.

Sacrifice: Fire wall causes Strength 7 AP2 hits with Ignores Cover and Cauterize special rules.

5. Molten Beam

Warp Charge 2

A white-hot beam of blazing energy bursts from the Sorcerers palm, burning armour, evaporating flesh and leaving only ghastly shadows in its wake.

Molten Beam is a beam with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
12	8	1	Assault 1, Melta, Cauterize

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes into:

Range	S	AP	Type
24	8	1	Assault 1, Armourbane*, Cauterize

*Molten Beam's Armourbane rule is ignored by the models that ignore Melta rule.

6. Crematorium

Warp Charge 3

Unleashing full extent of his hatred into the Warp, Sorcerer incinerate ground and air around him, burning friend and foe alike in an all-consuming fiery storm.

Crematorium count as witchfire, though it could be used even if Sorcerer is locked in close combat. All models within 4+D3" of the Sorcerer (except the Sorcerer himself) suffer Strength 6 AP 3 hit with Ignores Cover and Cauterize special rules, vehicles are hit on their side armor). Any unit affected by this power can attempt to Deny it rather than only the closest one. Wounds from these hits could not be allocated on the Sorcerer. For every extra Warp Charge used to manifest this power Crematorium's range is increased by 1" and Strengths is increased by one. For every two extra Warp Charges used Crematorium's AP is decreased by one to the minimum of one. This power could not be used through reflecting crystal.

Sacrifice: Counts as two extra Warp Charges used.

Pavoni Cult

PRIMARIS POWER

Lightning

Warp Charge 1

With a roaring thunder lethal bio-lightning, generated from the Sorcerer's nervous system leaps from his fingers, frying his foes alive.

Lightning is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
18	5	2	Assault 2, Indirect Effect, Haywire, Cuncussive, Blind

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes into:

Range	S	AP	Type
18	5	2	Assault 4, Indirect Effect, Haywire, Cuncussive, Blind

1. Agony

Warp Charge 1

Unspeakable pain pierces through the Sorcerer's victims' bodies, causing muscles to tear apart and bones to break from the powerful uncontrollable spasms.

Agony is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
36	7	4	Assault 4, Driver Wounded!*

Driver wounded!: If the vehicle get hit with Agony do not roll for armor penetration. Instead it automatically takes Crew Stunned result with no hull point lost. This result could not be replaced with Crew Shaken per any rule.

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes to one of the following:

Range	S	AP	Type
36	7	4	Assault 8, Driver Wounded!*
36	8	3	Assault 4, Driver Wounded!*

2. Living Bomb

Warp Charge 1

With a twists of his fingers Sorcerer turns inert chemicals in his victim's body into deadly explosion, and watch as it blows up like an organic frag-grenade.

Living Bomb is a malediction that targets single non-vehicle model within 12". Roll D6. If the result is more than twice higher than target's current wounds remove it as casualty with no saves of any kind allowed and center small blast template over the target before removing it. All other models under this template suffer a Strength 4 AP- hit.

Sacrifice: Target is removed and explodes if the result is more than his current wounds rather than double current wounds.

3. Enfeeble

Warp Charge 1

As Sorcerer channels his power, tendrils of Warp energy lash over his victims, sapping their vitality.

Enfeeble is a malediction that targets single enemy unit within 24". Whilst the power is in effect, the target unit suffers -1 penalty to both Strength and Toughness and treats all terrain (even open ground) as difficult terrain.

Sacrifice: Enfeeble effect last till the end of the game.

4. Leech

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer reaps the life force of his victims and use it to restore his own flesh.

Leech is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
12	4	2	Assault 4, Ignores Cover

If Leech causes at least one unsaved wound, Sorcerer immediately regains one wound. He even could get one wound over his maximum Wound characteristic, though this extra wound count as temporary and is automatically lost at the end of his next psychic phase or when he get new extra wound.

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes into:

Range	S	AP	Type
12	4	2	Assault 6, Ignores Cover

Sorcerer regains one wound for every unsaved wound Leech deals to the target. He cannot get more than one extra wound.

5. Frenzy

Warp Charge 1

By filling their blood with specific hormones and stimulators, Sorcerer turns his victims into little more than raging animals, barely able to tell friends from foes.

Frenzy is a blessing or malediction that targets single non-vehicle unit or walker (friend or foe) within 24". Whilst the power is in effect, the target unit cannot shoot, and is forced to move to the closest enemy unit in its line of sight at movement phase. If there is no enemy units within 12" and line of sight of target it must run or turbo-boost towards closest enemy unit at shooting phase, otherwise it is forced to declare charge on the closest visible enemy unit. Target unit also gain Fleet, Rage, Counter-Attack, Hatred and Furious Charge special rules for the duration of power.

Sacrifice: Frenzy does not grant any special rules if used on enemy models and does not force any movement or charges on friendly ones.

6. Battle Form

Warp Charge 2

By channeling his power inside his own body Sorcerer turns himself into a living weapon, capable of going toe-to toe against monstrosities triple his size, or reaping through the ranks of lesser troops with a terrifying ease.

Battle Form is a blessing that targets the Sorcerer himself. Whilst the power is in effect, the Sorcerer gains +2 Weapon Skill, Strength, Toughness, Initiative and Attack, as well as Fleet, Relentless, Eternal Warrior, Smash!, Feel no Pain and It Will Not Die special rules.

Sacrifice: Weapon Skill, Strength, Toughness, Initiative and Attack bonuses are +3 instead of +2, and all Sorcerer's attacks in close combat gain AP1.

Athanaeans Cult

PRIMARIS POWER

1. Nightmarer

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer pours deep into his victim's minds and unleashes the vision of their deepest fears upon them.

Nightmarer is a malediction that targets single enemy unit within 24". Whilst the power is in effect, the target takes -2 penalty to Leadership and treats all enemy units as having Fear special rule.

Sacrifice: The target receives no benefits from Fearless and And They Shall Know No Fear special rules.

1. Mindwipe

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer attacks the very essence of his victim's personality, breaking it apart and leaving only empty gibbering husk.

Mindwipe is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
18	8	2	Assault d3+1, Ignores Cover, Brain Death*

Brain Death: Hits from Mindwipe are resolved against target's majority Leadership rather than Toughness or Leadership+2 rather than Armour Value. For every wound caused by Mindwipe target must pass Leadership test or suffer Instant Death. Penetrating hits from this power roll D3 for damage table rather than D6 with no bonuses for AP or open-topped.

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes to one of the following:

Range	S	AP	Type
18	9	2	Assault d6+1, Ignores Cover, Brain Death*

2. False Command

Warp Charge 1

Piercing his victims minds, Sorcerer replaces their memories about orders they received with false ones.

False Command is a malediction that targets single enemy unit within 24". Targeted unit must pass Leadership test on 3D6 or in his next Movement phase it is controlled by you rather than your opponent, though they cannot use any abilities that hurt their allies. If the unit is forced to do anything that may directly cause damage to it other than potential damage from the Dangerous Terrain tests (like moving into a lava lake or jumping from the building's roof) it may pass another Leadership test on 3D6 to immediately end the power effect. If target unit include enemy Warlord, Leadership tests are passed on 2D6.

Sacrifice: Successful Leadership tests must be-erolled, and if it was failed you can control target squad during his shooting phase. Like with movement phase they cannot shoot or use other abilities that hurt their allies.

3. Puppet Master

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer possess his victim's mind, controlling his movement, his aim and his trigger finger as if he was a marionette.

Puppet Master is a focused witchfire with a range of 24". The target immediately makes shooting attack as it is one of your own models (this cannot target his own unit). Models that already being affected by Puppet Master during this phase count as being slain for target allocation purposes, meaning single model cannot be affected more than once per turn.

Sacrifice: Instead of shooting target can inflict D3 hits with its close combat weapon of your choice on itself. Wounds inflicted by these hits are resolved on the target only and cannot be allocated on other models of its unit.

4. Drowse

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer saps his victims' consciousness, slowing their movement and reaction.

Drowse is a malediction that targets single enemy unit within 24". Whilst the power is in effect, the target unit suffers -1 penalty to Weapon Skill, Attacks, Initiative and Charge and Run range; all models who charge this squad does not suffer Initiative penalty for charging through difficult terrain.

Sacrifice: Weapon Skill, Attacks and Initiative are halved (round up) instead of suffering -1 penalty. Target also cannot fire Overwatch, does not get +1 Attack for charging and lose all benefits of Rage, Furious Charge and Counter-Attack special rules.

5. Bedlam

Warp Charge 2

Paranoia and panic covers warriors as Sorcerer forces them to believe they are alone and surrounded by enemies.

Bedlam is a witchfire with 24" range that hits automatically. Target unit must pass Leadership test on 3D6 or every model in the unit immediately inflict one hit with its close combat weapon of your choice (or regular close combat weapon if it have none) on his own unit. This power does not affect non-walker vehicles and units of one model.

Sacrifice: Leadership test is passed on 4D6 rather than 3D6.

6. Paralyze

Warp Charge 3

Sorcerer's victims lose control over their bodies, forced to just stand and wait their inevitable doom.

Paralyze is a malediction that targets single enemy unit within 24", although if the target unit numbers above 30 models or is a Super-Heavy Vehicle or Gargantuan Creature it become Warp Charge 6 and could be denied by a single success. Whilst the power is in effect, the target cannot perform any actions except manifesting psychic powers, including moving, shooting, fighting in close combat or using special wargear. They also gain Fearless special rule and cannot be forced to move or fall back by any means. Zooming Flyers and Swooping Flying Monstrous Creatures can move in their movement phase, but only at minimal speed and straight forward. In close combat target models are hit automatically.

Sacrifice: Warp Charge cost is reduced to 1.

Note: Vehicles count as having Leadership 10 for the purpose of Athanaeans psychic powers, and their Leadership can be lowered by Nightmare psychic power or other means.

Raptora Cult

PRIMARIS POWER

1. Kine Shield

Warp Charge 1

Transparent dome of telekinetic energy covers Sorcerer's allies, shielding them from harm.

Kine Shield is a blessing that targets single non-vehicle friendly unit within 12". Whilst the power is in effect, the target count as being in AV10 round building with no fire points for the purpose of enemy shooting. Kine Shield is immune to the rules that grant extra dices for armor penetration or inflict glancing and penetrating hits on flat dice roll, but on the other hand does not benefit from any cover saves. Kine Shield cease to effect after the first penetrating hit it takes..

Sacrifice: Kine Shield's AV is increased to 12.

1. Press

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer's rough telekinetic power pins his victims to the ground.

Press is a malediction that targets single non-vehicle enemy unit within 24". Target unit must pass Strength test with -1 penalty to Strengths or is automatically Pinned even if it automatically pass pinning tests.

Sacrifice: Successful Strength test must be re-rolled.

2. Barrier

Warp Charge 1

Impenetrable shimmering telekinetic wall emerges from the thin air by the Sorcerer command.

Barrier creates two barrier markers within 12" of Sorcerer and no further than 12" from each other. These markers last until the start of the Sorcerer's next Psychic phase. No enemy models (even Flyers or Flying Monstrous Creatures) can cross the line between barrier markers.

Sacrifice: Instead of two regular barrier markers it creates one primary barrier marker within 12" of Sorcerer and two secondary barrier markers within 12" of primary one. No enemy models (even Flyers or Flying Monstrous Creatures) can cross the line between primary barrier marker and any of the secondary barrier markers.

3. Rockfall

Warp Charge 1

With his telekinetic power Sorcerer tear rocks from the ground and rain them on his victims heads.

Rockfall is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
36	4	-	Assault 1, Large Blast, Barrage, Indirect Effect, Strikedown

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes to one of the following:

Range	S	AP	Type
36	6	5	Assault 1, Large Blast, Barrage, Indirect Effect, Strikedown

4. Thief

Warp Charge 1

Sorcerer uses his telepathic power to pool the weapon of his enemy out of his grip and garbs it for himself.

Thief a malediction that targets single enemy model that is not a vehicle or a monstrous creature within 6". Immediately remove one weapon of any type from target model. If the target model is not Extremely Bulky, or a Tyranid you may therefore add this stolen weapon to any friendly model within 3" of the Sorcerer.

Sacrifice: Range is increased to 18".

5. Long hands

Warp Charge 1

Few mechanisms can hope to work properly after the skilled Sorcerer twist and jam their inner structure.

Long Hands is a malediction that targets single non-vehicle enemy unit within 24". Target unit suffers from one of the effects of your choice from the list below. Long-term effects from the list works for duration of power.

- Jam the guns: Unit must re-roll to-hit and to-wound rolls of 6 at shooting.
- Block the fuel/Cut the wings: Unit loses Jet-pack and Jump rules.
- Jam the armour: All models in the unit with 3+ or 2+ armour save treat all terrain (even open ground) as difficult terrain and cannot run.
- Short circuit: Each vehicle model in the unit suffers single hit with Strength 1, and Haywire and Ignore Cover rule.
- Hold the doors: Transport vehicles in the unit count as having no access point and top hatches.
- Pull the check: If there is at least one model with grenades of any type in the squad (except defensive and haywire grenades), unit takes D6 hits with Strength 4 AP- and does not benefit from any grenades it have.

Sacrifice: Target unit suffers from two of the effects of your choice from the list above.

6. Throw

Warp Charge 2

With a flip of his fingers Sorcerer lifts his victims into the air and throws them away.

Throw is a witchfire with the following profile:

Range	S	AP	Type
24	-	-	Assault, Blast, Twin-linked, Throw

Throw: Throw: All models touched by template are moved 2D6" at any direction of your choice ignoring all terrain. This movement can be used even if it breaks unit cohesion. Non-vehicle models must take Impact tests like they fall the distance they were thrown. Vehicle models take single glancing hit for every full 3" they were thrown. If their movement ends on impassible terrain, within 1" of any other model or out of table, reduce movement distance until they can be placed normally. If a thrown vehicle's movement ends over other unit, count it as tank shock or ram instead, and additionally deal D3 wounds with AP1 or D3 glancing hits to any unit or squadron it lands on.

Sacrifice: Witchfire profile changes to one of the following:

Range	S	AP	Type
24	-	-	Assault, Large Blast, Twin-linked, Throw

Tools of Sorcery

Robes

Exquisite robes under which Thousand Sons Sorcerers hide their armour are not just pretty cloth, but one of their arcane instruments - sown with psycho-active fiber and covered in words of power they serve as focus and amplifier of their sorcery.

Robes of Adept

Robes of Adept allow their bearer to purchase one extra Word of Power from Arsenal.

Robes of Ritualist

Robes of Ritualist allow their bearer to purchase one extra Word of Power and two extra Sacrifice tokens from Arsenal. Additionally, robes' bearer may reroll one of the three dices when manifesting psychic power per Sacrifice rule.

Armour

Carapace Armour

Young Sons wear unpowered suits of heavy carapace armour when going into battle.

Carapace armour confers 4+ armour save.

Charmed Armour

With most materials bolstered with charms and imprisoned warp-entities, charmed armour offers almost as much protection as Terminator suit, while being much lighter and mobile.

Charmed Armour confers 2+ armour save, and allow its bearer to purchase one extra Word of Power from Arsenal.

Power Armour

Power armour bestows great strength and protection.

Power armour confers 3+ armour save.

Terminator Armour

Servo-assisted Terminator armour confers the resilience of a walking tank - and quite frequently the weaponry to match.

Terminator armour confers 2+ armour save and a 5+ invulnerable save Furthermore, Models in Terminator Armour have Bulky, Relentless and Deep Strike special rules and cannot make Sweeping Advances.

Special Issue Wargear

Rules for the following grenades can be found in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Frag grenades* Krak grenades
*see assault grenades Melta-bombs

Chaos Icon

Icons serve as a magnets for the powers of Chaos, shining like a beacons through the veil between the real space and the Warp.

Sorcerer can use Empower minor psychic power to activate chaos icon in his unit until the start of his next Psychic phase. Activated icon prevents scattering of all friendly models in terminator armour or with Daemon special rule deep striking within 6" of model with icon.

Disc of Tzeentch

Sorcerer enthralls a Screamer of Tzeentch and shapes it into a soaring disc of daemoniac flesh, used as a personal mount.

Model on disc receive +1 Attacks and change it's type to Jetbike.

Inferno Bolts

The shells, carried by the Thousand Sons are imbued with sorcerous energies that tear their victims souls as well as their bodies.

Shots from bolt pistol, bolter, combi-bolter and heavy bolter with inferno bolts are resolved at AP3.

Inferno Promethium

Promethium, charged with the same rituals as dreaded inferno bolts have the same ability to burn the spirit of his victim's, bypassing all but the thickest armor.

Shots from flamer and heavy flamer with inferno promethium are resolved at AP3.

Jump Pack

Jump Pack can lift even heavy power armour from the ground, and a warrior equipped with one can leap across the battlefield, over obstructions, and slam into combat.

Model with jump pack have Jump unit type.

Psychoactive Bolts

Some Sorcerers arm their golems with the inferno bolts with psychoactive crystal cores. Such ammunition is no different from the regular inferno bolts by itself, but could be charged with sorcerous power, tremendously increasing its effectiveness.

Sorcerer can use Empower minor psychic power to activate all psychoactive bolts in his unit until the start of his next Psychic phase. Activated psychoactive bolts modify the profile of bolt pistols, bolters, and heavy bolters carried by the wielders with one of the following (applied after Inferno bolts effect):

- +1 Ballistic Skill
- +1 Strength
- +6" Range
- Ignores Cover, but AP is reduced to 5
- deal one extra shot, but AP is reduced to 5

Sigil of Mastery

As Sorcerer grows with his power, his psychic might changes his mind and body, granting him boons that makes him even closer to his chosen discipline.

Confer special bonuses according to Sorcerer's cult:

- | | |
|-------------------|---|
| Corvidae | - may re-roll all save results of 1, including Soul Shield saves. |
| Pyrae | - immune to flamer weapons and attacks with Melta or Soulblaze rules. |
| Pavoni | - +1 Wound and immune to weapon with Poisoned rule. |
| Athanaeans | - Preferred Enemy (Everything!) |
| Raptora | - +1 Strengths and immune to Pinning, Concussive and Strikedown. |

Vehicle Wargear

Daemonic Possession

The Vehicle's Ballistic Skill, Weapon Skill and Initiative is reduced by one, it lose Rubric Pilot rule, gain Daemon and It Will Not Die special rules and ignore Crew Shaken and Crew Stunned results on D6 rolls of 2+.

Parasitic Possession

At the end of any phase in which this vehicle inflict at least one unsaved wound or remove one hull point from enemy vehicle roll D6 - on 5+ vehicle could regain one hull point or repair Immobilized or Weapon Destroyed result.

Scrolls of Detention

Vehicle does not suffer from Ballistic Skill, Weapon Skill and Initiative penalties from daemoniac possession and get benefits from parasitic possession on 3+ rather than 5+.

Reflecting Crystal

At the start of his movement phase any friendly Rubric Sorcerer could link to vehicle with reflecting crystal. This link last until the start of his next turn and while it is active, vehicle does not suffer from Stupor rule and Sorcerer can manifest any of his powers except those that target himself from reflecting crystal. However, while Sorcerer is linked to the crystal, if he happen to take unsaved Perils of the Warp wound crystal would be destroyed and inflict single glancing hit on the vehicle. Crystal itself count as a weapon and could be destroyed by Weapon Destroyed result or when vehicle suffers Explode! result. When Crystal get destroyed, all Sorcerers linked to it would suffer S3 AP2 hit with Ignore Cover special rule.

Relics of the Sorcerers Planet

The Book of Magnus

The masterpiece of the Crimson King is the most guarded relic of the Legion. It contains secrets of Sorcery, not meant to be known to a mortals, and so is kept under the constant guard in the heart of the Magnus' Black Tower. Only a two copies of it exist: one resides inside the mysterious Black Library, and the other is gifted to a prominent Sorcerers of the Legion, tasked with a Mafnus' own missions.

Model with the Book of Magnus could choose one psychic power from each Thousand Sons discipline, after rolling powers normally, and can also reroll failed psychic tests.

The Book of Lorgar

Lorgar Aurelian, the Primarch of the Word Bearers legion, once gifted the hundred tomes of his book of Chaos to his closest brother Magnus. Inscribed on the skin of imperial psykers, those books contain countless rituals and hymns to the Chaos Gods, and, most importantly summoning techinques.

Model with the Book of Lorgar can pick up to four psychic powers from the Daemonology discipline, after rolling powers normally, and all Daemons, summoned by him does not scatter. Once per game one friendly unit with Daemon special rule may charge at the same turn it Deep Strikes within 12" of the book bearer.

Doom Spear

This powerful force spear bear the mark of the Thousand Sons artificer, yet Legion archives have no records about it, which leads many to suspect it being either a work of an exiled Sorcerer, or a relic, predating the Burning of Prospero. This weapon seem to be using the similar enchantment to the Singing Spears, used by Eldar, as it teleports back into its owners hand shortly after being thrown.

Range	S	AP Type
-	+1	2 Mele, Force
18	S+1	2 Assault 1, Force, Ignore Cover, Ghostthrow

Ghostthrow: Doom Spear deals Precision Shots on 4+.

Dreambreaker Pistol

Daemon Prince of Nurgle Tabus once was foolish enough to attack the Sorcerers Planet only to please his patron god. Unsurprisingly, not only his demonic army get banished with a single spell of the Crimson King, but the Tabus himself get imprisoned into unremarkable bolt pistol. After eternity of torment his spirit get full of misery and pain, part of which slips into pistol ammunition, which burst into blasts of green mist that saps the will of everyone around.

Range	S	AP Type
12	4	5 Pistol, Dreambreaker

Dreambreaker: If enemy unit get hit by Dreambreaker pistol, it's Leadership get reduced by one till the end of the game. This effect is cumulative.

Obsidian Casket

This small box made of pitch black stone contains the remnants of once powerful xeno witch. Despite its body long since turned to ashes, those ashes still possess a link to the Warp and a splinter of the long perished xenos soul. With enough will an proper rituals this artifact could be bound to a Sorcerer's will, and used as a potent Warp-energy battery.

At the start of his Psychic phase Sorcerer can put any number of Warp Charges up to his Mastery Level in the Obsidian Casket. Warp charges stored in Obsidian Casket are not lost at the end of the phase. Sorcerer (and only he) can use Warp Charges stored in the Obsidian Casket to manifest his psychic, powers, though they count as being manifested by single separate model: you can manifest from Casket the same power you manifested from the Sorcerer in the same turn, though you cannot manifest multiple same powers from the Casket, and those powers does not benefit from any Words of Power Casket bearer have, nor they can be manifested per Sacrifice rule, Though those power do still affect the Sorcerer like he manifest them himself.

Soul Mirror

Knowledge is power, and no one knows it better than the bearer of a Soul Mirror. This crystalline amulet allow to link into someone's soul and pour into his thoughts and memories as it is your own, unlike the telepathy mind scan that require exhausting and time consuming mental barrier breaking.

Once per game at the start of your Psychic phase you can use Soul Mirror on enemy character within 18". After this, bearer of the Soul Mirror gains the following benefits:

- Bearer and his squad gain 2+ cover save, Counter-attack and Preferred Enemy special rules against mirror's target and his squad.
- Bearer gains Initiative 10 and Weapon Skill 10 in challenge with mirror's target.
- If mirror's target is a psyker, bearer immediately learns all psychic powers mirror's target knows.
- If mirror's target is a Warlord, your opponent must immediately reveal all his hidden notes, and all your army get Interceptor special rule.

Insatiable

This force staff contains imprisoned warp entity of hunger and greed. It consumes it's bearer victim's souls to power its own soul-burning attack, and even to empower the bearer, if the soul was powerful enough.

Range	S	AP Type
-	+2	4 Mele, Force
24	6	4 Assault 2, Blast, Blind

When model equipped with Insatiable slays an enemy character roll D6 - on 5+ he immediately get +1 to his Mastery Level and roll one extra psychic power from any of the Thousand Sons discipline. If slain character was an Independent Character you get +1 bonus to this roll and another bonus equal to his Mastery Level if slain character was a Psyker.
